On Tuesday 10-02-2013 a male complainant contacted a Deputy at the NCSO lobby in reference to recovering a vehicle from his ex-girlfriend. When the Deputy contacted the female it was discovered that she had Court orders pertaining to the vehicle being community property and Temporary Restraining Orders not allowing the complainant near her or the property the vehicle was on. This information was not known to the responding Deputy and did NOT show up on the complainant's driver's license check. The complainant was advised to seek assistance of an Attorney and told the vehicle would not be released to him despite his name being the sole person on the registration due to the pending civil Court hearing. The female asked for extra patrol of her residence due to past family violence. EOR
