Youth Computer & Business Skills at the Nacogdoches Public Library

(Nacogdoches, TX) – The summer school break is an excellent time for tweens and teens to learn new skills and earn some money. The Nacogdoches Public Library will host a three-part series to help kids earn some computer and business skills that will serve them in the future. Participants will learn to make flyers, learn to seek out potential customers, practice interviewing and learn basic money management. A Youth Business Fair will follow on July 30th so that kids from the Boys & Girls Club and Public Library participants may display their business ideas.

Making Business Cards and Flyers for Your Summer Job will July 9th, Keeping Track of Your Savings Using Google Sheets will be July 16th, and Talking Up Your Business or School Group to Adults will be July 23rd. All classes are at 5:30 pm and are for ages 12-15 year olds. Registration may be done in person, by calling 559-2970, or from the library's website at www.ci.nacogdoches.tx.us/library.
